OUR TURTLEY HISTORY

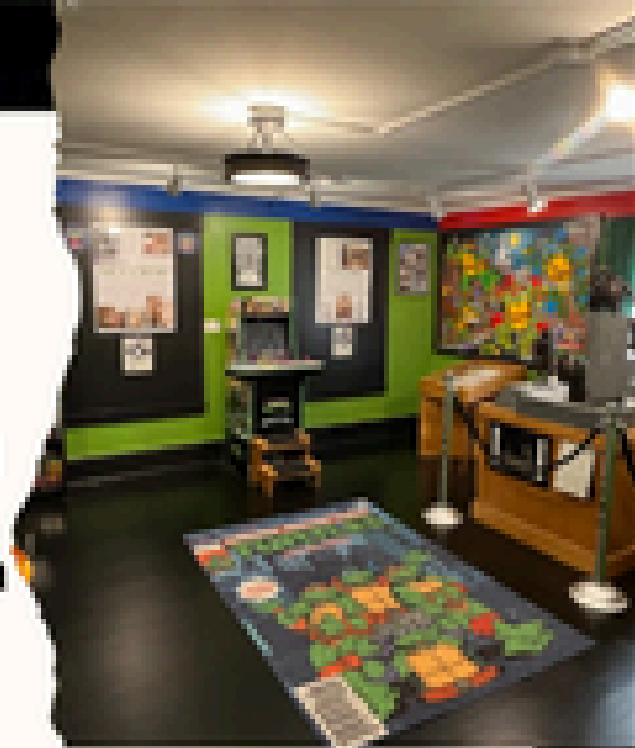

Dover, New Hampshire holds a special place in pop culture history as the birthplace of the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles.

In 1983, local artists Kevin Eastman and Peter Laird created the original concept right here in Dover, sketching what would become a global phenomenon.

To celebrate that legacy, a dedicated TMNT manhole cover marker was installed in downtown Dover in 2023, marking 40 years since the turtles were first created. The marker is located near the heart of downtown and has quickly become a must-see stop for fans.

The Woodman Museum further honors this legacy with a special exhibit highlighting the history, artwork, and cultural impact of TMNT.

CowabungaFest celebrates our city's unique connection to the turtles with a weekend full of pizza, art, and community. It is proudly supported by the Woodman Museum.
